JOURNAL OF BROADCASTING & ELECTRONIC MEDIA: CALL FOR EDITOR

Please Post for Faculty

Deadline: January 6, 2011

For over 55 years, the Broadcast Education Association has been an association of university professors and industry professionals who teach and prepare students for professions in broadcasting and related emerging technologies.

The BEA seeks applicants for the next editor of the Journal of Broadcasting & Electronic Media. The editor will be selected at the April 2011 BEA convention in Las Vegas, NV. The 3-year term as Editor begins January 2012, and covers Volumes 56-58. The incoming editor will begin working with the current editor in late spring 2011 to learn the mechanics of the position, and will assume review of newly-submitted manuscripts. (Manuscripts already under review will remain the responsibility of the former editor.) The former and new editors will work together to accomplish a seamless transition.

Interested applicants should send:

- a letter expressing their interest in and ability to edit and produce a scholarly journal, summarizing their ideas for the Journal, and stating that they have read and agree to adhere to BEA publication policies, which are online at www.beaweb.org.
- a complete resume identifying all publications and research experience, and
- a letter from appropriate administration officials (e.g., chair and dean) indicating the level of the institution's commitment and support for the potential editor.

The editor's home institution is expected to provide office space, suitable technology (i.e. a computer with Internet access) and sufficient secretarial and/or graduate assistant support. The editor also should receive some release time from teaching duties and support for professional travel and engagement.

BEA underwrites:

- all production and distribution expenses of the Journal,
- a modest honorarium for the editor, and
- a subsidy to the sponsoring institution to help support editorial assistants.

All application materials must be received by BEA Headquarters no later than January 6, 2011. Applicants should be able to meet with the BEA Publications Committee for an interview in Las Vegas on April 9, 2011 (the day before the BEA convention). The Publications Committee will recommend a candidate to the BEA Board of Directors for final selection.

Potential applicants are encouraged to communicate with the current editor, Susan Brinson brinssl@auburn.edu, and/or the BEA Publications Committee Chair, Rebecca Lind rebecca@uic.edu.
